

Fay

Milan, July 14th2017

Tod's Spa and Aquilano Rimondi announce the end of their collaboration on the FAY brand.

Tod's Spa announces that, after more than 6 years, the collaboration with the designers Tommaso Aquilano and Roberto Rimondi on the brand Fay comes to an end today.

Andrea Della Valle, Vice-president of the Group, says: "On behalf of the entire company I wish to thank Tommaso and Roberto for their most valuable contribution to the evolution of the brand. I personally think that this collaboration has proven to be extremely fruitful for both sides."

The designers say: "We thank both Mr. Diego Della Valle and Mr. Andrea Della Valle from the bottom of our hearts. They believed in our professional qualities, those same qualities we found in the entire Fay team who eagerly followed us in this professional journey from the very first moment."

The S/S 2018 pre-collection that will be available in stores starting from January 2018, will be the last one created by the couple for Fay.